

Russells also claim that Mrs. Gibson was arrested in New Brunswick on two occasions. Their story is that Bill Whittaker transferred his affections to some New Brunswick girl and Mrs. Gibson in fit of jealousy, came to New Brunswick and gave the girl a beating. D.T. 9/14/26

Interviewed Mr. Ketchke in presence of wife. Denied he married Mary Eisleitner but later mentioned tearing up divorce decree. G.T.P. 8/7/26

Dr. J. H. Cooper has known Jane Gibson for a long time. He attended her at the time of the assault upon her by Mrs. Russell, he being called in by George Totten. Dr. Cooper was member of the Board of Health, Franklin Township and he corroborates Cadmus's story. D.T. 9/14/26

Dr. Little, Rockefeller Institute at Princeton, N.J., formerly in charge of institute of New Brunswick <sup>to</sup> 1914 1916 had many dealings with Mrs. Gibson regarding buying horses, selling her pigs and carcasses of horses as well as a lot of chicken wire and junk. In all her dealings he found her fair and square with him and always thought her to be a decent sort of a person and an excellent judge of horses. She told him man living with her was her brother, also that she spent part of her life in a circus as "bareback rider" of horses. He said that she had an old man about the place and a boy about 11 years of age. The man Mrs. Gibson called her brother had done farm work for Dr. Little at different
